

Acme Support Policy

Acme offers three support levels. Standard support provides a two business day response time for normal questions. Premium support provides a four business hour response time for production-impacting issues. Critical support provides a one hour response time for severe incidents.

Support documentation recommends that customers include the product name, environment, business impact, and relevant logs when opening a case.

The support policy does not define any warranty period for a quantum module.